

Digital Property Logbooks: The Key to Faster, Smarter Transactions

Government reform recognises one clear truth:
The future of home buying is built on verified data,
shared early.

Why Transactions Still Take Too Long

- Data gathered too late in the process.
- Repetition between agents, lawyers, and lenders.
- Paper or email-based documents that get lost or outdated.

The Home Buying & Selling Reform Consultation

The UK Government is pushing for a data-driven, transparent property market, with digital property logbooks at its core.

Logbooks hold verified information that can be reused throughout ownership and resale.

Always-On, Conveyancing-Grade Data

- Pre-integrated data feeds: EPC, title, local authority LLC1, and more.
- Verified sources reduce rework and miscommunication.
- Data available before listing, during sale, and after completion.

One Logbook, All Professionals

Agents, lawyers, and sellers work from the same secure dataset; no duplication, no confusion, no waiting for attachments.

Properly permissioned data, ringfenced to existing client confidentiality standards.

White-Label Digital Deeds Storeroom

Keep in touch with clients even after completion:

- Securely store deeds, warranties, and documents.
- White-labelled interface reinforces your brand.
- Maintain long-term client relationships effortlessly.
